CHE-FOO, June 7, 7:45 a. m .- The correspondent of the Associated Press at Teng-Chow cables that there was firing at Port Arthur last night, beginning at 11:30 o'clock and continuing for several hours. A junk arriving during the night from Dainy reports that there was heavy firing all day yesterday in the vicinity of Port Arthur. When the junk left Dainy Monday morning all was quiet there. The arrivals on the junk deny the story of the sinking of a Japanese ship off Talien-Wan. There also is no confirmation of the report that the Russians made a sortie at Port Arthur and sunk four Japanese ships.

RUSSIAN ACCOUNT OF THE WAFONGKAU FIGHT

ST. PETERSBURG, June 7 .- General

Kuropatkin telegraphs to the Emperor, under the date of June 4, as follows: "Fuller reports give particulars of the affair near Wafongkau station May 30. A detachment of Russian cavalry, consisting of dragoons, Cossacks and mounted chasseurs with a battery on their way from Vanzalon, were informed that two companies of the frontier guard were engaged with the enemy occupying a position near the village of Yondziatun. A portion of our cavalry advanced towards Wafengkau, while two squadrons of dragoons were sent to support the frontier guard, and one company of chasseurs was sent to protect and reconneiter on our right flank in the valley of Fu-Chau. After accomplishing this mission the chasseurs and a company of Cossacks forced the right flank of our position. "Toward 1 o'clock the enemy began to debouch in considerable force from Lutsiatun with the object of attacking our advance line. Two companies of Siberian Cossacks crossed the railroad in front of the cavalry and attacked a squadron of the Japanese advance guard, almost entirely destroying it in a hand-to-hand fight. They afterward encountered the fire of Japanes nfantry. Two squadrons of our cavalry and a battery of machine guns hurried up and then retiring drew after them a second squadron of Japanese cavalry. This squadron followed until it came in contact with a detachment of chasseurs, who succeeded in firing eight voileys at a fixed range into the squadron, which then fell back, having suffered considerable loss.

"While retreating to the left the Japanese sonadron came under the fire of a company of the frontier guard which had advanced and the squadron retired in disorder. Our dragoons came up at this moment, but owing to topographical conditions they could not participate as part of our front, but fired on the enemy from the heights north of Iutsiatun.

Discovering our endeavors to turn their left, the Japanese retired on a second position. Our battery got into position and opened a successful fire on the Japanese infantry and machine guns. Meanwhile a movement of the enemy's infantry toward Intsiatun was observed, and subsequently about 2 p. m. dense lines of infantry were was occupied by our troops. The enemy seen occupying the crest of the heights had occupied Kerr peninsula and had sent PERHAPS HIS WRAITH which had been previously occupied by large lighters to Khumeza bay. These, Meyer, seriously wounded; Lieutenant Brandt, slightly wounded; three men killed and forty-two wounded. It appears from a report found on the body of a Japanese ommissioned officer that the Fourteenth Dragoons alone lost seventy men. "Our Cossacks were fired on by Japanese infantry, occupying a fortified position on the heights near the village of Khotsiaputsz, eighteen miles from Feng-Wang-Cheng. At the outset the Japanese attempted to advance across the valley of Koaulindaypho, but were stopped by an accurate fire from our field guns, which the Cossacks had succeeded in bringing into position. The Cossacks dismounted and with the aid of reinforcements and the fire of two guns, forced the Japanese to abandon their position and retire under cover of their supports. The engagement lasted from 1 p. m. until 6 p. m. "On the Japanese side six companies took art, four having arrived as reinforcements. The entrenchments of the enemy were well constructed and perfectly masked. Our cavalry worked the guns admirably. Their

ARDMORE, I. T., June 6 .- Maidall, a town of probably 2,000, was the scene of wild excitement among the colored inhabitants last night, when an attempt was made by a mob of between fifteen and twenty white people to drive the negroes out of the town. Hundreds of shots were fired into the homes of the negroes. No one was hurt, so far as can be learned, with alry. Our losses between May 5 and 21 were the exception of a member of the mob who was slightly wounded by a shot fired, I's said, by Mrs. W. E. Bonner, a colored woman, in defense of her home. This an-gered the crowd and they attempted to break into her home, but she pluckily stood her ground. The mob visited nearly every house in the colored settlement and fired shots into the houses. The occupants, terror-stricken, lay on the floor and escaped the fusillades. Men in the mob warned the negroes to leave town or suffer death. Forty colored people left their homes to-day, many leaving behind their personal property. About thirty reached Ardmore In the crowd was Mrs. Bonner. DENVER, June 6.-The State Supreme Court to-day refused the application for writ of habeas corpus for Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who is held as a military prisoner at Telluride by order of Governor James H. Peabody. The Governor's action in declaring martial law in San Miguel county, imprisoning Moyer and other union men on the ground that they had incited insurrection and rebellion, suspending the writ of habeas corpus and ignoring the authority of the local courts as seems necessary to him in maintaining law and order, is sustained. Chief Justice Gabbert and Justice Campbell concurred in the decision.

Justice Steele dissented.

The opinion of the court was given by Chief Justice Gabbert. Its main points are as follows: The Governor has sole power exercise of this prerogative. The Governor has the right to use the military forces of the State to suppress insurrection. He also has the power to order imprisonment Previous to the rioting Sheriff Henry M. and the killing of insurrectionists if in Robertson had been summoned to a meetcan detain military prisoners until he decides that the insurrection is quelled. The courts of the State have no right to interfere with the military authorities and their handling of prisoners. They have no power to attempt to discharge military prisoners. The contention of the appellant that the military prisoners should be turned over to the civil authorities is characterized by the court' as absurd.

The question which the court was asked to decide was of such vast importance to the State that seven prominent lawyers were asked as advisory counsel to submit opinions. Charles Hughes, one of these, it is understood, did not send in any opinion. The other six split evenly. Those who sustained the position of the Governor were Attorneys I. M. Goddard. Platt Rogers and A. C. Field. Former Governor Charles S. Thomas, Leroy Stevick and Harvey Riddle dissented from the opinion of the court.

An Appeal to the President. TELLURIDE, Col., June 6,-O. A. Floaten, one of the proprietors of the People's supply store, M. J. Sullivan, secretary of the local miners' union, and Tony Rolla, bartender, who have been advised by the military authorities to leave San Miguel county, have retained Congressman H. H. Hogg as counsel, and, acting under his advice, have decided to remain here until forced to leave. The following telegram has been sent to President Roosevelt at Washington, to which no reply has yet been received: "Have been ordered to leave our homes by July 7, but do not intend to go. We as citizens of the United States demand your protection under the constitutional rights. The civil courts would protect us, but they are powerless. The Governor will not protect us.

"O. A. FLOATEN, "M. J. SULLIVAN." OWNERS AND MINERS WILL OFFER REWARDS

VICTOR, Col., June 6.-At a meeting of the Mine Owners' Association of the district held to-night the Findley outrage was discussed and the deepest feeling of dignation expressed, and it was the unanimous opinion that under no circumstances should the murderers escape. Many of the members pledged their individual support to run down and punish the conspirators, and a large reward will be offered by the association. The County Commissioners and different mine managements will offer individual rewards also. The local committee of the Western Federation of Miners has authorized the Associated Press to say that they deplore the diabolical murder. The following is

STRIKE IN COLORADO

DENVER, Col., June 6.-Although the strike of union miners in the Cripple Creek district, which began Aug. 10, 1903, and which led to the declaration of martial law in Telluride county by Governor Peabody, is still in effect, good order has been maintained for six months, military rule writs of habeas corpus in case of a riot or has been suspended and all troops withdrawn. The mine owners, with the exception of the Portland company, claim to number of times. Jefferson, Jackson and have as many men working as they need, Lincoln all tried to sustain writs of habeas | and they require all miners to renounce alcorpus on occasions during their adminis- legiance to the Western Federation before giving them employment. The Western Federation of Miners will investigate to-day's outrage. At the session of the Federation's convention to-day a committee, consisting of C. C. Mitchell, of South Dakota, C. Mahoney, of Montana, and Harry L. Lane, of Nevada, was appointed to go to the Cripple Creek district and make a thorough investigation of the affair and to spare no one in its report. The committee which was sent to Cri Creek last week to report on conditions there reported to the convention today. The report says that the mine owners admit that they are not getting anything like the returns they did before the strike. The committee found a great many men employed, almost as many as before the strike on some properties, but the returns were not nearly so large proportionately. The miners are beginning to stand firm and the committee could suggest no change in the policy which had been pursued. The secretary of the Mine Owners' Association had made the claim that if the matter had been put to a referendum vote of the local unions, there would have been no strike. But the committee found that the local unions had considered the strike and referred the matter to the district union, which had advised the calling out of the men. To-night the committee appointed to investigate the explosion at the Findley station last night met at Federation headquarters. A statement will be given out to-An eyewitness said of the shooting: "I to determine when a state of insurrection or appropriating money for an independent
